

Havre-Saint-Pierre

The Havre-Saint-Pierre port of call is located in the beautiful Minganie region of Québec, boasting miles of shoreline, stunning sandy beaches and picturesque villages, bursting with charm and adventure. Surrounding the town of Havre-Saint-Pierre is the world-famous Mingan Archipelago National Park Reserve, a chain of hundreds of limestone islands and granite islets with a natural beauty that will take your breath away. You can't help but be inspired by the region's mysterious monoliths and its diverse wildlife, featuring seven whale species, including the blue whale, along with marine birds, and remarkable plant life. Soak up in the rich culture of the Innu community of Ekuanitshit and witness their unwavering commitment to keep alive traditional medicine, culture, and language spanning over 5,000 years. With a vibrant culture and natural treasures at every turn, you'll fall instantly in love with Havre-Saint-Pierre.

INVESTMENTS

The Port of Havre-Saint-Pierre has invested $1.3 million in recent years to develop and expand the Portail Pélagie-Cormier cruise terminal.

In September 2016, the Innu community of Ekuanitshit officially opened its new cultural centre.

HIGHLIGHTS

- A warm and authentic welcome as soon you step onto the dock.
- Surrounded by the world-famous Mingan Archipelago National Park Reserve, where you find the largest concentration of erosion monoliths in Canada.
- Cruise terminal Portail Pélagie-Cormier offers you everything you need: tourist information office, free Wi-Fi, Parks Canada exhibitions and more.
- Cross the street and you'll find local arts, crafts and products at Place des artisans and Boutique du terroir
