

Niche Ports of Atlantic Canada

Visit Baddeck and Bras d'Or Lake, described as a "basin ringed by indigo hills laced with marble." Head to St. Andrews and see the former summer home of Franklin D. Roosevelt. Step aboard the tall ship Hector in Pictou. Visit France's oldest overseas territory at Saint-Pierre et Miquelon, just miles from our shores! Explore North America's only authenticated Viking settlement in Newfoundland and Labrador. Watch polar bears in their natural habitat in the Torngat Mountains National Park. Whether sailing into Shelburne, Summerside, Yarmouth, or New Brunswick's Acadian Peninsula, your cruise to Atlantic Canada will exceed your expectations. Its natural beauty will fill you with awe; its shops and local products will delight you; its galleries, museums, and other attractions will impress you; and the kindness of its people will fill your heart. When your ship leaves port for home, you'll wonder why you hadn't visited sooner.

HIGHLIGHTS

- In Cape Breton, hike up the Skyline Trail for a spectacular view of the world-famous Cabot Trail.
- When in Yarmouth visit Cape Forchu, the second most photographed lighthouse in Nova Scotia. Explore the rocky landscape and take in the breathtaking views and sunsets.
- Whether you're drawn to history, arts and culture, food, or adventure, the Port of Pictou is your link to many local and authentic experiences. One Port, endless possibility.
- When in Shelburne, visit the Black Loyalist Heritage Centre in nearby Birchtown, to learn about their journey from Africa, to the American colonies, and finally to Nova Scotia.
- Return to the days of prohibition in Saint-Pierre et Miquelon where bootleggers set up shop to smuggle alcohol into the US and Canada.
- Visit Kingsbrae Garden in St. Andrews for a guided tour through beauty and time. Enjoy high tea prepared by our award-winning chef.
- While in Summerside visit the Wind Energy Institute of Canada, have lunch at the Wind & Reef Restaurant, and see the longest natural sedimentary rock reef in North America.
- A visit to the Acadian Peninsula will let you immerse yourself in Acadian culture dating back to the Acadian deportation of 1755, its churches, museums and art galleries.
- Newfoundland and Labrador's authentic Viking site and site of the first ever transatlantic wireless signal. Its 29,000 km of coastline, and distinct culture shaped by musicians and artists.
